"The best of times, the worst of times"

This oft-quoted opening to Charles Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities might well apply to today's marketing conditions. While the automobile business is suffering from lack of sales, the sales of expensive video toys are booming. While unemployment is up, disposable personal income is at a record high.

Futurist John Naisbitt, in his recent book entitled Megatrends, published by Warner Books, says, "I do not believe that the United States is, or has recently been, in a recession. In the United States we have parts of the country that are in prosperity and parts that are in a depression, some business sectors are doing very well, and some are depressed. Economists have averaged the two together and declared the nation is in a recession." Naisbitt notes that one of his clients has begun to look at the economic health of each state, state by state. The idea is to learn from the mosaic and not mindlessly average everything and be left wholly uninstructed.

This is the 58th edition of the Market Guide that was first conceived at a time when there was no single source of information about individual markets and national marketing was, by necessity, "wholly uninstructed."

Users of this edition will find its contents are accurate and up-to-date and a reliable source of data and statistics that can be integrated into any marketing program with confidence. The individual 14-point market surveys on all U.S. and Canadian markets in which a daily newspaper is published—the heart of the Market Guide—provide users with unduplicated information gathered by our staff from a variety of sources, including the daily newspapers.

Users of our Canadian section will note that the newly released data on population and number of farms from the 1981 Statistics Canada Census provide new benchmarks for our Canadian estimates.

Additional information about any of the newspaper markets listed may be obtained by contacting the newspaper or newspapers listed in item 14 of each market survey, or by contacting the newspaper's national representative. The addresses and phone numbers of the representatives are listed on pages 37-38, section I.

We welcome any suggestions for improvement or additions that would make future Market Guides more useful.

How to use the 1983 Editor & Publisher Market Guide

Preceded by pages of general information designed to facilitate its use, the data in this MARKET GUIDE is presented in four sections:

1. Market Ranking Tables
These tables show, ranked by size according to E&P estimates for 1983, the population, disposable income, total retail sales, total food sales, and income per household of all SMSAs (Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas as defined by the Office of Management and Budget) and larger counties and cities of the U.S.A.

2. Individual Market Surveys-United States
Facts and figures about all United States daily newspaper markets, listed alphabetically by state and city in the U.S.A., followed by Puerto Rico. The sample survey below shows the information included, and how the data is generally shown. A state map introduces surveys for each state, showing SMSAs, county boundaries, location of all daily newspaper cities, and county seat cities without daily newspapers.

3. Individual Market Surveys-Canada
Facts and figures about all Canadian daily newspaper markets. The map for Canada shows national and provincial capitals, and location of all daily newspaper cities.

4. Sales, Population and Income Tables
E&P 1983 retail sales estimates, total, and in nine categories, with number of stores in each, for all SMSAs, U.S. counties and daily newspaper cities. Tables are arranged alphabetically by state, followed by tables of estimated 1983 population, personal income—total, per capita and per household; also number of farms and value of crops and livestock.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATES

The basis for kind-of-business classifications used in the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is the same as used by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Census of Retail Trade. This follows the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972).

The 1977 Census of Retail Sales conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce was a gigantic task and required considerable time for evaluation and tabulation. The 1977 Census is the basis for the Retail Sales Estimates included in this 1983 edition. However, strict comparison of the data for the 1972 and 1977 censuses is limited by the following factors:

Geographic boundaries of a number of areas have changed between 1972 and 1977 censuses, because of annexation and redefinition of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas and other boundary changes.

In 1977, the Internal Revenue Service assigned a more detailed classification code to business tax returns. As a result, data for certain kinds of business are more detailed than could be shown in 1972.

Omitted from the 1977 sales statistics are sales and other taxes collected from customers as well as carrying charges or other charges for credit. These taxes/charges reported in the 1972 census have been estimated at about $10 billion for the United States as a whole.

In the 1972 census the "legal form of organization" was based on data only for establishments with a total company employment of 250 persons or more. In 1977, this was determined on the basis of the response to the legal form of organization inquiry on the census form.

This Miscellaneous Retail Store category is not inclded in the Editor & Publisher Tables of Estimated Retail Sales.

For your quick reference, we publish a complete list of the major group classifications of stores included in the Tables of Estimated Retail Sales (numbers following names are SIC codes). PT following the SIC codes refers to "part"; n.e.c. refers to "not elsewhere classified."

DEFINITIONS AND NOTES

ABC—Adjacent to certain figures on population and newspapers in the surveys in this book are references to the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The ABC issues standardized statements of the circulation of publisher members, verifies the figures shown in these statements by auditors' examination and disseminates the circulation data to advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Each publisher's statement and audit report issued to members covers the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods.

ADVERTISING & MERCHANDISING DATA—The daily newspaper is the prime source of information on local conditions in each of the newspaper market areas. The name, address and telephone number of people able to supply more information about these areas appears in paragraph 14 of each "Key Market Survey."

CIRCULATION FIGURES—The March 1982 figures appear in most of the surveys. Where March 1982 figures are not available, proper notation is made. Also indicated with the figure is whether the circulation is verified by ABC (Audit Bureau of Circulations) or comes from a sworn statement by the publisher of the newspaper.

CITY ZONE (CZ)—The corporate limits of the city in which the newspaper is published, plus in some cases, the contiguous areas built up adjacent to or surrounding the city of publication. This could also include more than one city, where the areas involved are contiguous areas.

CONSUMER SPENDABLE INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" below.

DISPOSABLE PERSONAL INCOME—Sometimes referred to as "Effective Buying Income" or "Consumer Spendable Income", is equal to current income received individuals, unincorporated businesses and non-profit institutions, from all sources. It includes all that is received as wages, salaries, and commissions, including pensions, trust and welfare funds, labor, farm, non-farm, professional, rental, dividends, personal interest and transfer payments after taxes.

The amounts usually deducted for income, property, and other taxes not deductible as business expenses, as well as other general government revenues, such as fines, penalties, and so on, have been subtracted.

EFFECTIVE BUYING INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

ESTIMATES—Basic figures are always U.S. Government figures (U.S. Census) or, in Canada, the latest available Census figures from Statistics Canada. Any other figures are either identified as to source or considered "local estimates."

FARM DATA—County Data: The figures used in these tables for the counties are the latest released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The most recent agriculture census was made in 1978.

State Data: State totals of crops and livestock are released annually by the U.S Department of Agriculture. State totals used in these tables are from the most recent USDA Statistical Bulletin. Footnotes at the bottom of each table show the year and source of data.

HOUSEHOLDS—Not to be confused with "families." The term "household" corresponds to "private dwelling unit" as defined in the Census Bureau's current operations, which would include all persons occupying a house or an apartment together.

INCOME PER HOUSEHOLD (DISPOSABLE INCOME)—The total average income earned or received by each household with direct or indirect taxes deducted.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING AREA (OR DISTRICT)—Indicates specific street locations of active retail trade.

PASSENGER AUTOS—These figures are obtained from the various state departments of motor vehicles, where available, and generally on a county basis. However, in some states no county breakdown is available.

PERSONAL INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income above.

PRIMARY MARKET AREA—Considered to be that geographical area in which the newspaper provides primary editorial and advertising service. Area consists of contiguous census units (none larger than a county), and ABC rules require that paid circulation and ABC current estimate of households within each county or portion thereof shall be considered.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATE TABLES—Based upon the latest available (1977) U.S. Department of Commerce Census of Retail Sales, brought up-to-date, with considerations given to conditions and developments since the Census figures were collected.

Sales and "Kinds of Retail Stores" (as well as estimates) are reported as in the Bureau of Census reports, by type of store in which the sales are made (using the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions all listed in this volume) rather than by the products sold. For example, many non-food items are sold in food stores.

The sum of the nine types of stores will not add up to the total of retail sales estimates for each area since there is also a miscellaneous classification of stores not included in these tables.

In some areas (cities or counties), retail sales totals and retail sales per household exceed the figures shown for total income per household. this is because of the influence or attraction an area may have on the shopping patterns or habits of those who live adjacent to or outside it.

RETAIL TRADING ZONE (RTZ)—The area beyond the City Zone whose residents regularly trade to an important degree with the retail merchants in the City Zone. In establishing the boudaries of the RTZ, consideration is given to the transportation facilities, traffic flow, traveling time and schedules by both public facilities, private cars and common carriers; as well as charge accounts, phone orders and regular delivery service from the central or City Zone to the outlying areas.

SHOPPING CENTER—The term is intended to apply to developments with a number and a variety of stores, including chains, supermarkets or banks, with extensive parking facilities, and located on or near a main highway.

STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (SMSA)—These are listed as described by the Office of Management and Budget. A complete list of these, with a full explanation, appears in the front of this Market Guide.

STANDARD CONSOLIDATED STATISTICAL AREA (SCSA)—A standard statistical area used to facilitate the presentation and analysis of data on large concentrations of metropolitan population. A complete list of these areas, appears in the front of this Market Guide.

STATISTICS CANADA—Canadian Government agency in Ottawa responsible for all official statistics covering population, retail sales, etc.

STORES—Stores are typed according to the definition of the 1977 U.S. Census of Business (Retail Trade) which use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions.

SUPERMARKET—This term involves these three conditions: annual sales volume of at least $1 million; four departments; dairy, meat, produce and groceries; and a grocery department that is entirely self-service.

STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS

STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS definitions were first developed and issued for use by all Federal agencies compiling general purpose statistical data. The definitions made it possible to make better comparison of population, housing, employment, trade and industry statistics. State and local governments, as well as private industry, soon found these definitions most useful.

The Office of Management and Budget considers economic integration as well as the metropolitan character of the counties, communities and towns in determining the standards and criteria established for SMSA designation.

Generally conceived, a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area is an integrated economic and social unit with a large population nucleus.

In November 1971, a revised set of criteria was released by the Office of Management and Budget.

A Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area always includes a city (or cities) of specified population which constitutes the central city and the county (or counties) in which it is located. An SMSA also includes contiguous counties when the economic and social relationships between the central and contiguous counties meet specific criteria of metropolitan character and integration. An SMSA may cross state lines. In New England, SMSAs are composed of cities and towns instead of counties.

1. Each Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area must include at least:
   (a) One city with 50,000 or more inhabitants, or
   (b) A city having a population of at least 25,000 which with the addition of the population of contiguous places, incorporated or unincorporated, have a population density of at least 1,000 persons per square mile and together constitute, for general economic and social purposes, a single community with a combined population of at least 50,000, provided that the county or counties in which the city and contiguous places are located has a total population of at least 75,000. (This criterion replaced a previous one which referred only to "twin cities" with a combined population of at least 50,000.)

In addition to the county (or counties) containing such a city (or cities), contiguous counties are included in an SMSA if, according to certain criteria (somewhat revised since previous definition), they are socially and economically integrated with the central city.

2. A contiguous county will be included in a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area if—
   (a) At least 75% of the resident labor force in the county is in the nonagricultural labor force, and
   (b) At least 30% of the employed workers living in the county work in the central county or counties of the area.

3. A contiguous county that does not meet the requirements of Criterion 2 will be included in a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area if at least 75% of the resident labor force is in the nonagricultural labor force and it meets two of the following additional criteria of metropolitan character and one of the following criteria of integration.
   (a) Criteria of metropolitan character.
      (1) At least 25% of the population is urban.
      (2) The county had an increase of at least 15% in total population during the period covered by the two most recent Censuses of Population.
      (3) The county has a population density of at least 50 persons per square mile.
   (b) Criteria of integration.
      (1) At least 15% of the employed workers living in the county work in the central county or counties of the area, or
      (2) The number of people working in the county who live in the central county or counties of the area is equal at least to 15% of the employed workers living in the county, or
      (3) The sum of the number of workers commuting to and from the central county or counties is equal to 20% of the employed workers living in the county.

The SMSA title always includes the names of the state or states that are included in the SMSA, the name of the largest city (it might include several cities—as many as three), all dependent upon relative and minimum populations of the central city and other cities in the SMSA.

In New England, the requirement with regard to a central city as a nucleus still holds, but the units comprising the area are towns rather than counties. The county (or town in New England) is the basic statistical unit. Since smaller areas are used, a density of at least 100 persons per square mile is used as a measurement.

When two or more adjacent counties each have a city qualifying under Paragraph 1 above and the cities are within 20 miles of each other (city limits to city limits), they will be included in the same area unless there is definite evidence that the two cities are not economically and socially integrated.

If two or more adjacent counties each have a city qualifying under Paragraph 1 above and the cities are more than 20 miles from each other (city limits to city limits), they will not be included in the same area unless there is definite evidence that the two cities are economically and socially integrated.

The foregoing digest of criteria established for qualifications of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas will serve most purposes. The complete criteria can be obtained directly from the Office of Statistical Policy, Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20503.

In June 1981, the Office of Management and Budget announced the designation of 36 new SMSA's based on the results of the 1980 Census of Population. This brings the total number of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas to 323.

1. One of the SMSAs has a population of at least 1,000,000.
2. At least 75 percent of the population of each SMSA is urban.

EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S MARKET RANKINGS

This year EDITOR & PUBLISHER has once again compiled market-ranking tables to help advertising and marketing executives plan programs for the coming year.

These tables have been a feature of the E&P Market Guide since they first appeared in the 1964 edition. The rankings, based on E&P estimates for 1983, are shown for five categories: population, disposable personal income, total retail sales, food sales, and income per household.

Rankings are provided for all cities or communities in the United States in which newspapers are published on a daily basis for all counties whether daily newspapers are published in them or not, and for all standard metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

The tables are tabulated by computer and are based on the 1980 U.S. Census and the 1977 Census of Business, and our own research estimates for 1983.

Leading U.S. cities, counties and standard metropolitan statistical areas ranked according to EDITOR & PUBLISHER estimates for 1983

How to reach out, grab a New Englander and shake him by his down vest.

If you want to reach out and grab the Boston metro market—and the rest of New England for that matter—consider the newspaper that most New Englanders reach for: The Boston Globe.

The Globe's daily circulation is 502,868. And on Sundays, it's 751,289.* That's a total readership of 1.2 million daily and 1.7 million Sundays. No other vehicle in the market gives you this kind of coverage.

But the Globe doesn't just deliver big numbers. It also puts you in touch with the best educated, most interested and well-to-do audience in New England. People with money to spend in what Adweek Magazine calls the third hottest growth market in the country.

Naturally, any publication that offers advertisers important readers must offer its readers important writing. The Globe does.

The Boston Globe has won more than its share of Pulitzer Prizes, graphics and editorial awards. And AP sports editors have voted The Globe's Sports section the nation's best for three years running.

Finally, The Globe lets you talk to specific audiences with a variety of special sections.

The Boston Globe: All you need to reach the best in Boston.

- At Home. Friday section devoted to the thousands of New Englanders who are devoted to making their home a better place to live.
- Sports Plus. Saturday's sports section; goes beyond standings and scores to bring Boston's fanatic fans the whole story. And bring advertisers men, 18-49.
- The Boston Globe Magazine. Award-winning rotogravure publication that's #1 in the country in retail advertising. And recorded the greatest linage gains in 1982 of any Sunday Magazine.
- TV Week. The TV magazine with a larger circulation in Boston than TV Guide!
- Business Extra. Every Tuesday, local, national and international business news and how it impacts the New England business community. It's one of the biggest advertising successes in Globe history and a smart way to catch business people.
- The Boston Globe Food Pages. New England's most attractive and complete newspaper food section. Read every Wednesday by people in the Boston metro market interested in recipes, nutrition and saving money.
- Calendar Magazine. Thursday leisure guide that's popular with all our readers and especially Boston's enormous audience of young people (18-35).
- Boston Globe Classified. Every day. Far and away the #1 classified section in New England—with 145 categories, more than 26 million lines of advertising a year, and obviously fantastic results.

When you add it all up, The Boston Globe is all you really need to shake up New England.

A rare bird indeed.

Most people consider Phoenix an emerging market, when in fact it has already arrived.

Phoenix has been called the fastest-growing major market in the country.

Even so, the vitality of this metropolis has been underestimated.

In several important economic benchmarks, Phoenix outperforms larger eastern cities.

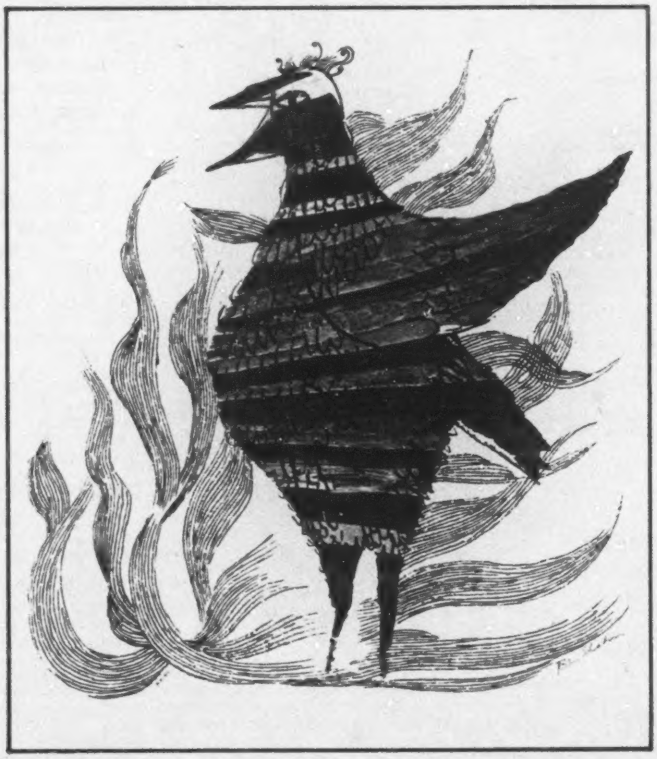
For instance, the Phoenix market ranks 25th in households—but it ranks higher in retail sales per household than New York, Philadelphia, or Pittsburgh.

That's because Phoenix families have more to spend. Four out of ten adults report an annual household income of $25,000 or more.

Seven out of ten of these affluent adults are reached with an average daily issue of The Arizona Republic/The Phoenix Gazette.

Across the country, few major metro newspapers deliver comparable media dominance of such an upscale audience. And few major markets offer such a decidedly upscale audience to deliver.

Phoenix. It's a rare bird indeed.



THE PHOENIX by Ben Shahn (1882-1969). A hand-painted serigraph of the mythical bird that consumed itself on a pyre of spices and was reborn—just as the city of Phoenix grew out of the 'ashes' of four ancient American Indian cities. From the Collection of The Arizona Republic/The Phoenix Gazette.

12 - RETAILING:
Los Angeles is unique in that shopping centers are spread throughout the market and each represents a major shopping center for that area. Downtown Los Angeles thus represents one of many. It extends eight blocks N. & S. from 1st St. to 9th St. & 7 blocks E. & W. from Spring St. to Figueroa. In discussing the retailing structure of Los Angeles, Orange County, which is part of the marketing area and part of the primary market or city and retail trading zone of Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers, becomes an integral part. All following figures are, therefore, for Los Angeles and Orange Counties.
Neighborhood Shopping Centers-In the Los Angeles Marketing Area there are 107 incorporated cities with their central shopping districts and community shopping centers. In addition there are 56 spacious regional centers, which include department stores, supermarkets, shops, restaurants and parking areas.
Principal Shopping Days-Dept. Mon., Thu., Fri. & Sat. Food Thu., Fri., Sat. & Sun.

Southern California is the nation's number one market for one reason only: L.A.'s massive distribution system.

Not L.A.'s ADI.

In other words, you can count on L.A. to deliver your product to nearly 2 million San Diegans who control close to $16 billion in buying power. But you cannot count on L.A. media to make them spend it.

The reason — strictly geographical. San Diego is farther from L.A. than Cleveland is from Detroit. Or Philly is from New York. Or Milwaukee, from Chicago.

LOS ANGELES DELIVERS PRACTICALLY EVERYTHING SAN DIEGO NEEDS.

EXCEPT OUR NEWSPAPERS.

To reach San Diego, the big plus which adds more numbers to your Southern California buy than any other city in the market, you need San Diego's newspapers, The San Diego Union and The Tribune. With more than seven times the daily penetration of any paper that happens to get on a truck over 100 miles away in L.A.

For more information, write or call Dick Applegate, National Advertising Manager, Union/Tribune Publishing Co., P.O. Box 191, San Diego, California 92112. (714) 299-3131. Or contact our national representatives at Sawyer-Ferguson-Walker.

The San Diego Union
The Tribune

King of the Mountains

Denver's #1 Daily Continues Its Reign

One full year of head-to-head morning competition ended September 30th in Denver. The stone-cold facts from ABC: The dynamic growth of the Rocky Mountain News continues at an even greater pace, in both circulation* and advertising linage. Rhetoric of the also-ran notwithstanding, advertisers placed nearly 6,000,000 more full-run lines in the News this year than the other paper. Like we said, the competition ended September 30, 1982.

THE ADVERTISING MEDIUM THAT DELIVERS...

Over a five-day period, The Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal reach 375,000 adult readers in Metropolitan Jacksonville, about three-fourths of all adults in the market. Sunday audience increases to reach eight out of ten adults. That's four times as many as are tuned to the best-watched television station during prime time — nine times what the most popular radio station can deliver in drive time. We penetrate the market better than any other major newspaper in Florida.
